JUNIOR CLASS PLAY
AT THE NORMAL IS TO BE GIVEN ON FRIDAY

TEMPE, April 15.—Are you going to see "The Love Affairs of the Professor" Friday night at the normal auditorium? The junior class will present this play, which tells the story of the professor who lives in London. The professor has had some great trouble, which has upset his life to such an extent that without the assistance of his housekeeper he would never eat, sleep nor attend to his business. There are some clever and interesting situations in which the audience is made to live with the characters. Effie, the little housekeeper, will make you laugh heartily when you see how she troubles on her courtship besides managing other affairs. Dr. Cosens, who is an old classmate of the professor's, will make friends with everybody and cause much merriment.

PRIES FRONT DOOR
OFF MESA JAIL AND WALKS TO FREEDOM

MESA, April 15.—Preferring his liberty to remaining in custody and taking the consequences of charges to be placed against him, J. G. Little, arrested Monday afternoon by Detective O. L. Pickens, made a successful getaway from the jail cell in the city hall that evening by prying the front door off its hinges.

Little was taken into custody when he attempted to dispose of automobile tools and other accessories to various parties on the street in Mesa, Monday afternoon. When he accepted the considerable sum of $500 for the tools, which were apparently stolen, show up. An old bar in the door to the jail, which was sawed apart about a year and a half ago and an escape effected, came in for usage again by Little.

"SAVE MONEY ON MEAT" IS CAMPAIGN NOW
ON IN PHOENIX

Housewives Being Educated
To Fact That Cheaper
Cuts of Beef Are as Nutritious as the More Expensive Ones

Phoenix housewives are being educated this week by Uncle Sam's agent, Assistant Fair Price Commissioner H. C. Perrine, to cut down the household expense bill by buying cheaper meat cuts, that are just as good and equal to the ribs and loins that are in fashionable demand. The education is being carried on by means of charts in the windows of local meat dealers, showing the cow and the various parts from which the meat recommended can be found.

There is every indication that the "Save Money on Meat Campaign" will be as successful in Phoenix as it has been elsewhere," said Mr. Perrine yesterday. The fair price man said that butchers, packers, clubs, hotels and even restaurants were cooperating in the work of educating the public to use those parts of the cow that were being indicated by the fair price commission.

Up To the Housewife
"It now remains with the housewife," said Mr. Perrine, "to cooperate with the government and her part toward creating an equal demand for forequarter cuts. She will eliminate a lot of waste of meat by following the recipes published in the press during the campaign, which contain delicious cuts, in which there is as much nutrition as in porterhouse steaks and chops. The housewife must remember that it is meat, and also to cook any cut of meat tender."

Two dishes recommended yesterday by Mr. Perrine were chuck steak with onions and New England boiled dinner. The recipe for the first as given is, for chuck steak and onions: Two pounds chuck steak, five or six onions, salt, butter or a substitute. New England boiled dinner: Two pounds corned beef, small head of cabbage, six small turnips, six small carrots, six small beets and potatoes.

hand, and that no interruption in the present service was expected.

Lucey to Entertain
One of the best entertainments of the season comes on Saturday evening of this week, when Thomas Elmore Lucey, poet, lecturer and humorist, appears at the Orpheum under the auspices of the Mesa Commercial Legion. A ticket selling campaign inaugurated by the ex-service men has already placed the attraction on the map, and the success with which the campaign is meeting promises a crowded house for the evening of the entertainment.

Entertain at San Marcos
Mrs. Cecil Drew of Mesa and Mrs. C. A. Baldwin of Chandler were hostesses at a party given Tuesday night at the Mesa Commercial Legion. A large number of Mesa women were included in the guest list.

Death of Baby Daughter
Anne, the four-months-old baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell, died Monday night at the family home on East First avenue, following a short illness. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock from the residence.

County Division Is Subject Announced
The next meeting of the Mesa Commercial club directors to be held Friday noon. A definite policy on the question, it is intended, will be arrived at by the commercial club body.

Stewart Addition Opened
Another 100 lots were added to Stewart addition last week, another subdivision being made on the south to the present addition. Twenty-six of the lots in the new section have already been sold. W. S. MacMannan purchasing 10 of them. Cross-roads have been established in the division and residences are already under course of construction on several of the lots in the new addition.

Americanization Meet
Election of officers for the ensuing year is a part of the program that will be taken up at a meeting of the Americanization committee of Mesa to be held this evening at the high school. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock.

Miss Behn Becomes Bride of F. Fagan
AT PRETTY WEDDING

One of the most attractive weddings of the spring season, and one of exceptional interest as well, took place at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Miss Ruth Behn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Behn, became the bride of Theodor F. Fagan.

Only the relatives and a few of the most intimate friends were present at the Cathedral House where the service was read by Rev. J. Rockwood Jenkins, a friend of the family of long standing. While the decorative scheme was not elaborate it was none the less beautiful, a wealth of Pearl of the Garden roses having been used with charming effect. The chancel rail was showered with exquisite yellow rose buds while the altar held countless dozens of the lovely full-blown flowers. On either side of the passage leading to the altar were tall baskets filled with long stemmed roses.

The bride, who is an unusually pretty girl, wore a fetching frock of white net, a large white hat completing her costume. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

Miss Eva Behn, who came from Washington, D. C., for the wedding was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. She, too, looked charming. She wore a crisp pink organdie gown and a becoming hat of the same tone while the roses she carried were also pink.

J. J. Fagan served his brother as best man.

One of the delightful features was the musical program given by Anna Pokrant, violinist, and Blanch Port Runyan, pianist. Preceding the ceremony they played "Cavatena" while "Lohengrin" announced the approach of the bridal party. A pretty appointed dinner at the Adams followed the service. Mr. and Mrs. Fagan leaving shortly afterwards for a fortnight's honeymoon. On their return they will take up their residence at the Westminister apartments.

Mrs. Fagan is a well known and liked member of the younger set. She has a charming, frank manner and a pleasant personality. Mr. Fagan, who is connected with the Central bank, is also popular with all who know him.

BAPTIST FEDERATION
TO MEET TOMORROW

The Social Service Federation of the First Baptist church will hold an open meeting in the church building, corner Third Avenue and Monroe Street, Friday evening, commencing at 7:30 o'clock.

John Z. White, a noted lecturer connected with an eastern lecture bureau, has been engaged to deliver several lectures in Arizona, and will deliver one under the auspices of the federation tomorrow night.

The lecture will be of interest to every citizen of Phoenix, absolutely free and open to the public. A large audience is expected.

Following are the subjects of some of Mr. White's lectures: "The Relation of Taxation to Community Development"; "Public Ownership of Public Utilities"; "Free Trade"; "Civic Righteousness"; and "Robert Burns."

Mr. White's lectures are always in demand by boards of trade, chambers of commerce, Rotary clubs, real estate boards, fraternal organizations, bankers' associations, universities, bar associations and many other miscellaneous clubs and organizations.

OLD-TIME DEPUTY MARSHAL A VISITOR

H. H. Lindsay, who has lived in Oklahoma since '79 has come to Phoenix with view of making his home here. Lindsay was one of the federal officers who succeeded in capturing Bill Dalton, the last of the Dalton brothers whose raids and robberies terrorized Oklahoma for a number of years. A deputy United States marshal for a period of 12 years, Lindsay tells thrilling stories of the early days.

Mr. Lindsay came to Phoenix to visit his daughter, Mrs. D. C. Whitlock, of 523 East Lincoln street and is so delighted with the country that he proposes to invest in property in the valley.

FORM A HOOVER-
FOR - PRESIDENT
CLUB IN PHOENIX

Group of Men and Women
Launch Local Boom for
The Former Food Administrator

The nucleus of a Hoover-for-president organization is the moving spirit in the local Hoover boom, and he was chosen temporary chairman of the Phoenix Hoover club, which was formed last night, pending a more general meeting to be held next Wednesday night, at a place to be designated. Mr. Elliott said he had received messages from Ralph Arnold, another head of the Hoover for President boom in California asking that sentiment in favor of this candidate be sounded out in Arizona.

The business of last night's meeting was brief. Several questions as to organization were tabled until next week's meeting. A publicity committee, headed by G. W. Mickie, and including E. D. Raley and A. K. Gahndet was appointed by the chair following the passage of a resolution stating that it was the sense of the meeting that announcements of subsequent meetings of the Hoover club be more widely advertised.

Called Belated Candidate
"The people of this country are trying to raise their voice in politics," declared Mr. Elliott in the course of his opening remarks, "and the great majority of Americans want no hand-picked candidates this time. Mr. Hoover enters the race as a 'belated candidate'; it is true, but he has supporters in every corner of the land, and in both parties."

"We will depend largely upon women to further his candidacy. During the war the women rallied to Mr. Hoover's support more than did men, and they probably more fully realized the wonderful quality of his work. Though the women may not have an opportunity to vote, they can do much toward working up a sentiment.

"Mr. Hoover would have preferred to retire to private life, but there came a spontaneous demand for further services from him. He is now deeply engaged in relief work, and he probably won't be able to make very many campaign speeches. Hoover clubs, however, are being formed in all parts of the country, in states, cities and towns, and should have a plan to organize a state organization here. This question will be taken up at later meetings."

Don't Care Which Party
"Mr. Hoover has declared that he does not wish a big campaign fund, and further that he does not wish any one person to contribute more than $100 toward defraying campaign expenses. He also desires the 'utmost candor' regarding the expenditure of the funds."

"There is hardly a man under Hoover's banner who will seek office. Therefore there will be no machine. We will have to build our organization—call it machine if you will—from the ground up. Work in this connection has already been started in various parts of this state."

"We don't care which party nominates Mr. Hoover. Many of those who are supporting him are not considering party lines. We are trying to leave it to the people's choice. The Hoover campaign should be a straight from the shoulder campaign—a campaign of personal suasion, in which we come to close grips with every element of our population."
